Jeff Hodges

Front-End Developer • UX-Focused Designer

PROFILE

Front-end developer with a background unlike most candidates: 25+ years leading educational programs, building communities, presenting complex ideas, and managing large projects. I create responsive websites that combine thoughtful design, clear communication, and practical business goals. My focus is helping artists, educators, and small organizations establish a professional digital presence.

FEATURED PROJECTS

Ai•See Creative

Founded a web design and development brand focused on creative professionals and small businesses.

Kate Wurtzel Artist Website

Designed and developed a responsive artist platform with gallery systems, inquiry workflows, custom branding, and mobile-first layouts.

Karen Hodges Author Website

Built an author platform supporting book promotion, memoir publishing, biography content, and reader engagement.

Personal EPortfolio

Created a portfolio showcasing development work, design process, branding, and case studies.
